Kennedy Gets New Proposal to Merge. Military Intelligence

crived a recommendation that to Mr. Kennedy en overhauling all military intelligence-gather—the nation's intelligence netsgency similar to the civilian Creation of a single military was learned today.

By David Wise The recommendation was one HYANNIS PORT, Mass. July of the chief proposals in Gen.

3.—President Kennedy has re- Maxwell D. Taylor's oral report

Central Intelligence Agency, it intelligence agency in the Pentagon also has been under con-The proposal would mean sideration by another study climination of often-conflicting panel, headed by Dr. James R. estimates of the three armed Killian jr., chairman of the services intelligence branches, board of the Massachusetta Institute of Technology.

Taylor on Panel

Gen. Taylor is also a member of the Killian panel. former Army Chief of Staff was named by Mr. Kennedy to study the intelligence apparatus in the wake of the unsuccessful invasion of Cuba by C I. A.-trained exiles.

The proposal to eliminate the individual Asmy, Navy and Air Force intelligence branches and merge them into a single new agency was learned as Dr. Kil-; lian conferred for forty-five minutes with Mr. Kennedy here.

Dr. Killian flew to Hyannia

Dr. Killian flew to Hyannis from Boston and then left immediately after his conference. He did not talk to newmen.

Near A Decision

As the New York Herald Tribune reported resterday, the President is rapidly nearing a decision on how to streamline should best be left to the boss and reorganise the nation's of the marrod intelligence closk - and - dagger apparatus. Some indication that he likes part. Gen. Taylor's proposals in this area was provided by the fact? that the President last week! named him as his White House military adviser.

Gen. Taylor's recommendation for a siggle Pentagon in- At one point, those studying telligence agency, however, can the system for the President be expected to engender strong sonsidered shifting the intelliopposition by the services, which like to preserve their the State Department into new agency related to the State Department along the same lines as the United State Approved For Release 2004/4 the result would be consolide tion of United States espioner intelligence and counter-intel-ligence work into two naw agencies, one military and one civilian:

It would not however salve the problem of what to go about covert, semi-military intallizence eperations such as the Cuban invasion. At present, these are carried out by the C I. A., but the Killian group has considered stripping O. I. A. of this function.

Would Isolate Operations

Critics of the present system, contend that the same agency should not sather sifelizener and carry out operational at-tivities. This theory is that operation might distort, their evaluations of intelligence reports to fit the particular operational project.

Underlying the proposal for a single Pentagon intelligence agency is the fact that when estimates reach the President's

Sindy Crisis Center

The single Pentagon agency would attempt, where passible. to come up with a consensus, a single recommendation to the President in a given situation.

At one point, those studying gence and research division at the State Department into the separate identity wherever possible. And each service has throdore C. Achilles, whose strong supporters in Congression to President's brother-in-law. The President's brother-in-law. Against the proposed merger. Eye C L A Change

The President is also considering a proposal to meral the intelligence-gathering functions of C. I. A. and the intelligence and research branch of the State Tepartment into the State Tepartment in the State Tepartment into the State Tepartment into the State T giring torpign affaire crises.

Mas Get New Name

WOID WISE

However, the intelligence and research section of the State research section of the State Department spay be given a new and less obvious title evan if it is not me ged with C. I. A into a single delitan agency. Dr. Killian's banel, known as the President's Board of Consultants on Foreign Intelligence Activities, was established five search ago but reshuffed by Mr. Kennedy after, Cubs. It is a continuing board with over-all intelligence supervisory funcintelligence supervisory func-tions, Gen. Taylor's survey was short-range. He reported orally, rather than on paper, presumably to increase the tight security surrounding his study.

The President's brother, Attender Garden Robert F, Kenthose who favor a particular nedy, was also named to work operation might distort their with Gen. Taylor on the survey. Robers Kennedy is here spend ing the July 4 week and with

LCIA-RDP75-00149R000700470033-1